Early Education with a Teacher's Mind and a Mother's Heart

Striving in September!

Fall is my favorite season and I am looking forward to the cooler weather. I am also excited to explore and celebrate the Mid-Autumn Festival with our students on September 29th. This month, we will be striving to increase our knowledge and skills when it comes to safety, experience the beauty and creativity of symphonies, and act as astronomers as we study the moon. At the end of the month, we will also be collaborating together to set learning goals for this school year. Please sign up for parent teacher conferences here.

September Overview

Learning Themes: We Are Safety Engineers | Symphony | Mid-Autumn Festival | We Are Astronomers

Safety is such an important topic. In fact, it really is the foundation of any quality early childhood program. If children aren't physically and emotionally safe, learning can't happen- it really is that simple. This month, I am excited to share different resources with our families on the topic of safety and to really challenge our students to think about the world from the perspective of a safety engineer. Young learners are observant and capable and by teaching them the tools and strategies to navigate their world safely, we can nurture both their independence and self-confidence.

I'm so excited to visit Segerstrom together this month. As part of the preparation for this special ABC Mom Family & Friends Meet-Up, we will be learning about different aspects of the symphony, including the sounds and instruments of the symphony, the creative symphony composers and their stories, and will culminate in a special docent-led tour of the Segerstrom Center for Performing Arts

We will also be putting on our astronomer hats to study the science of moon, share beloved folklore concerning the moon, and prepare mooncakes together to celebrate the Mid-Autumn Festival. And last, but not least, it will be my joy and honor to meet with families, either in-person or Zoom, as we collaborate together for your student's learning during the 2023-2024 School Year. Happy Autumn to all!

SEGERSTROM TOUR IN SEPTEMBER

Our annual tour of the Segerstrom Center for the Arts is truly one of the most incredible things that we do at ABC Mom Learning Center and Childcare. I believe that connecting early learners to the performing arts is such an important part of a quality early childhood education program. We have such an incredible treasure for our community at Segerstrom and it is such an honor that they open up their hearts and doors to our students and families each year to visit. For more information and to RSVP, please visit here. Please note that this docent-led tour is limited to twenty people. Enrolled and waitlisted families have priority to RSVP. Please come join us!
