Things to Know and Explore in November

November is such a meaningful time for me as I reflect upon the experiences and people that I have been thankful for during the past year. This month, we will take time to learn about our community and the special helpers that help us in so many ways, while also taking time to express our thanks to them. We'll also be exploring numbers and the different ways we can think about and represent them in our everyday lives. Last, but not least, Thanksgiving is all about that good food, so this month, we will also be investigating the subject of "Nutrition" in all its deliciousness. Wishing everyone a healthy, joyful, and peaceful Thanksgiving!

November Learning Themes: Thanksgiving & Community, Knowing and Exploring Numbers, Nutrition for Us & Children of the World

As we begin to wind down this year, I can't help but to reflect upon all the things I am so thankful for. One of the biggest things I am thankful for is this community. It is such a gift to teach and care for your children as we partner together to build a warm and responsive connection. This serves to provide our early learners with a solid foundation to support their healthy growth and development. I also recognize that there are also many community partners in your children's lives that help support you as well. This month, we will be learning about some of them and also writing letters to express our gratitude. Please check out the weekly newsletters for more information.

In November, we will also be taking a deep dive into numbers as we think about different ways that we think about them and express our knowledge and understanding of them. We will be providing various activities to our families to help us explore mathematical concepts both at home and school. These kits will go home on Mondays and we ask that you please remember to return them on Fridays. Thank you for partnering with us as we play with numbers!

Lastly, as we prepare for our special Friendsgiving feast, we will be thinking about nutrition and how important it is for children and their health. What does food look like in our homes? What do meals look like for children who live around the world? During this challenging time when food scarcity is a very real challenge for families in our community and in our world- I encourage our families to get involved and think about ways we can all help to make sure that children are not going hungry. Let's lead our Littles with love, compassion, and meaningful action. Happy Thanksgiving to all!

FRIENDSGIVING 2025: OUR FAVORITE MEMORIES OF 2025 & FUTURE HOPES FOR 2026

It is always such a joy to gather with our ABC Mom Family to share a delicious meal. This has been such an incredible year! I am looking forward to creating shared space to not only enjoy delicious food together, but to also spend some time thinking about and giving thanks for the wonderful things that we have experienced in 2025 and sharing our vision for 2026. Please take some time to RSVP by Friday, November 14th, for this special event here.
